Letter from the Editors

Academic and Research Committee, Stanford Undergraduate Neuroscience Society

Welcome!

Thank you for reading “The Stanford Axon”, Stanford’s only undergraduate neuroscience publication! In this journal, you will see revolutionary studies in the field of neuroscience, interviews with groundbreaking Stanford faculty, reviews on the current state of the field, and much more.

With “The Stanford Axon”, our goal is to provide a platform for members of the Stanford community to not only keep up to date on the happenings of all thing’s neuroscience, but to also have a space to share the incredible work being done in the university.

“The Axon” provides undergraduate students with opportunities to get involved with the publication and peer review process. We are a quarterly journal, so submissions for each cycle are accepted in the beginning of each quarter, and each edition is released at the end of each quarter.

Submit your work at suns.stanford.edu and check out the other amazing work being done by Stanford students, faculty, and alumni!

Happy reading!
